Noted Americans in Great Crowd at Paris Races

Fine Weather Brings Fashion Show Not Even Surpassed by Grand Prix Day.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HEBALD. Copplight, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HEBALD New York Herald Bureau. Paris, June 23.

The Autouil race course was packed for the annual drag day, setting a new record for the festival not only in admissions but in the number of noted Americans present. The fine weather seemed to draw every one from the hotels, resulting in a fashion show which could not be surpassed even on the Sunday of the Grand Prix.

which could not be surpassed even on the Sunday of the Grand Prix.

Just after noon seven four-in-hand coaches, looking much out of place in the stream of automobiles, departed from the Place de la Concorde, the guards' horns sounding merrily. They were occupied by the directors of the racing societies and their friends. These coaches arrived at the track just before the first race began.

The betting was heavy, although no unusually big returns were paid by the pari-mutuels. The stands were crowded with Americans and it was reported that more than 6,000,000 francs had been waged beforethe last race, when a shower cut down what would have been a record for high betting.

Among the prominent Americans present there were Mrs. Adolph B. Spreckels, who is being entertained by her cousins, the Marquils and Marquise Pierre de Bretteville: Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Mrand Mrs. Bernard M. Baruch and the Misses Baruch: Mr. Ogden Mills, Mr. Joseph E. Widener, Mr. and Mrs. Harry La Montagne, Mr. and Mrs.

no matter what location was finally adopted.

The plan of R. C. Lafferty, an architect of 3125 Broadway, for a war memorial on the proposed Fifty-ninth street site will probably be submitted to Mayor Hylan's peace memorial committee to-day.

The first objection to the location of the art center at Seventh avenue and Fifty-ninth street was raised Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Columbus Circle Council. It is understood that several other realty owners and merchants' associations representing a terests in this section of the city will also raise objections to the proposed site.
